SPEAKERS

Nate Coulter - Nate Coulter is a native of Nashville, Arkansas. He graduated from college and law school at Harvard University, then later earned a Master of Library and Information Science from the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee. In March 2016, Coulter became the Executive Director of the Central Arkansas Library System. CALS has 15 libraries, an annual operating budget of approximately $28 million, and more than 300 employees. Nate is married to Nathalie, who is an assistant principal at Roberts Elementary School in Little Rock. They have four adult children, one grandson and their rescue pup, Theo.

Charlie Cunningham - Charlie is a founding partner at AR Law Partners. He was born and raised in Little Rock where he attended Little Rock Central High School. After attending college and law school at the University of Arkansas, he returned home to Little Rock where he lives with his wife, Jennifer, and their dog and cat, Harriet and Madonna. Before entering private practice, he worked under Hon. Waymond Brown at the Arkansas Court of Appeals and as an attorney for the Arkansas Department of Human Services in dependency neglect, adult protective services, and child protective services cases.

At ARLaw Partners, he has centered his practice around those same areas of law involving DHS in addition to family law, education law, and appeals. He has argued in forty-six of the seventy-five counties in Arkansas and has been recognized for his achievements in publications including Best Lawyers, Super Lawyers, AY Magazine, and Little Rock Soiree.

When he isn't helping his clients throughout the state, Charlie enjoys day dreaming of future, less likely careers such as famous chef or professional disc golfer.

Jennifer Donaldson - Jennifer Donaldson is a Licensed Certified Social Worker and serves as the Executive Director of the Arkansas Judges and Lawyers Assistance Program (JLAP). Jennifer is a native of Monticello, AR where she received her undergraduate degree in Criminal Justice and Psychology while attending the University of AR at Monticello. She graduated with a Master of Social Work from the University of Arkansas at Little Rock with a focus on Advanced Direct Practice.

Jennifer has worked in various realms of social work including clinical mental health with individuals, families, and groups, program development, enhancement and quality assurance, and advocacy work within the juvenile justice system. She has served as the Program Director for SMI Adult Day Treatment Services as well as the Director of the Geriatric Intensive Outpatient Department in Monticello before moving to Little Rock.

Prior to working with JLAP, she provided contract mental health services to JLAP clients through her private practice. Jennifer specializes in the mental health effects of trauma, organizational wellbeing, and program development & administration. Jennifer is clinically trained in evidence-based therapies such as Eye Movement Desensitization Reprocessing (EMDR), Accelerated Resolution Therapy (ART), Acceptance & Commitment Therapy (ACT). Jennifer is a Certified Master WRAW (Workplace Resilience and Wellbeing) Practitioner which allows her to assess and implement macro level strategies for organizational resilience and wellbeing as well as personalized wellbeing for individuals and groups. As JLAP Executive Director, she oversees operational quality and implementation of services statewide while seeking opportunities for program growth and expansion. Jennifer looks forward to continuing Arkansas JLAP's approach to overall wellbeing within the legal community while maintaining the provision of vital clinical mental health services to judges, attorneys, and law students.

CLE PROGRAM

SPEAKERS

Shelly Joyner - Shelly C. Joyner earned her bachelor's degree in general studies from Dowling College. She earned her juris doctorate from UNT Dallas College of Law where she was active in advocacy activities, student government, and other student organizations. She was the school's representative to the American Bar Association. Originally from Memphis, Tennessee, Shelly is a "second career" lawyer after 17 years at an air freight shipping company in various positions including as a load master and Account Operations Manager. She chose to go to law school after she found herself studying law for fun as a way to unwind after a tough night on the tarmac.

After graduation, she worked for a boutique estate planning law firm where she'd worked as a clerk during law school. There, she was able to use her contingency planning background to create custom estate plans and business formation strategies for clients.

She practiced primarily in the Dallas, Tarrant, Collin, and Denton County statutory probate courts, but handled cases in counties all over Texas. She has significant experience in teaching multiple aspects of the law for the general public and to students. She had a regular lecture series on Constitutional Law at a retirement community in the DFW area. She greatly enjoys judging and coaching students in their legal advocacy studies. She has handled multiple civil law cases including fraud, defamation, quiet title, and landlord tenant actions.

Shelly is a Rotarian as well as a proud and active member of Attorneys Serving the Community. She is the recipient of the 2021 Texas Bar College Steven Condos Award for Outstanding New Member to the College. She is a member of the Pro Bono College of the State Bar of Texas, UNT Alumni Association, and is a board member of Denton City Contemporary Ballet. Her primary residence is now in Hot Springs Village, Arkansas near her family, but has a secondary home in Dimmitt.

Meredith Lowry - Meredith Lowry is a partner and registered patent attorney at Wright Lindsey Jennings, where her practice focuses on acquisition and licensing of various aspects of intellectual property rights for companies working in the retail space. From the products on the shelf, the packages they go in, and the platforms they're sold on, Meredith advises businesses on intellectual property concerns and data privacy and security matters.

Meredith is a frequent speaker in the tech and startup space on topics such as intellectual property, artificial intelligence, and women's entrepreneurship. Meredith spearheaded the firm's Woman-Run initiative to support woman- and minority-owned businesses and entrepreneurs through networking, mentorship, education and resources. Meredith was recently appointed chair of the Artificial Intelligence Task Force of the Arkansas Bar Association, which will develop recommendations and resources for AI use in the legal profession.

Candace McCown - Candace McCown is a Licensed Master Social Worker and is the Arkansas Judges and Lawyers Assistance Program Assistant Director. She serves the clients as a clinician, performs client assessments, manages health monitoring clients, and focuses on wellbeing and mental health education. With experience working in non-profit, for-profit, and governmental agencies in both micro and macro social work positions, she is well-rounded to work within the JLAP network and assist the program across the board.

A native of Arkansas, she received her undergraduate degree in Psychology from Harding University and earned her MSW at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock with a focus on management and community practice. As a clinician, she is trained in several specialty modalities: EMDR (Eye Movement Desensitization and Reprocessing) and ART (Accelerated Resolution Therapy). When she is not working, she enjoys spending time with her family and friends, going on walks, and crafting.

SPEAKERS

Judge Melanie Martin - Judge Melanie Martin is the Circuit Judge of the Sixth Judicial Circuit-Seventh Division. She assumed that office on January 1, 2025, after serving six years as the Little Rock District Court Criminal Judge. She was elected Circuit Judge without opposition in 2024. Judge Martin was elected District Judge in 2018 in a special countywide election for an unexpired term. In 2020, she was re-elected without opposition to a new four-year term beginning on January 1, 2021. Both as a District Judge and now as a Circuit Judge, her jurisdiction includes both Pulaski and Perry Counties.

Judge Martin graduated from UALR Bowen School of Law in 1992 and became a Deputy Prosecuting Attorney for the Sixth Judicial Circuit upon her admission to the Arkansas Bar. She has extensive bench and jury trial experience in general, juvenile, drug, domestic violence/sexual assault, gangs, major crimes, and homicide/capital cases.

She served as Division Chief of District Courts/Complaints Division, Division Chief of the Drug Division, and Division Chief of various general Circuit Courts. She was promoted in 2005 to a Senior Deputy Prosecuting Attorney position. As a Senior Deputy Prosecutor, she provided and assisted with staff oversight and policymaking decisions and with the development and implementation of prosecutorial policies and procedures. She also supervised the office's training programs. She served as a representative to the United States Department of Justice's Violence Reduction Network -- a partnership with the Little Rock Police Department which sought to reduce violent crimes in all areas of the City. She also served as a Peer Reviewer for the United States Department of Justice Office of Justice Programs' Bureau of Justice Assistance.

Judge Martin has been an Adjunct Professor at UA Little Rock Bowen School of Law, teaching Lawyering Skills and Trial Advocacy. She has served as President of the Pulaski County Bar Association, the Pulaski County Bar Foundation, the Judge William R. Overton Inn of Court, and the UA Little Rock Bowen School of Law Alumni Board. She is a board member and a Master of the Bench of the Judge William R. Overton Inn of Court, a board member of the Pulaski County Bar Foundation and a board member of UA Little Rock Bowen School of Law Alumni Board. She is a member of the Arkansas Bar Association, the Pulaski County Bar Association, the Pulaski County Bar Foundation, and the Arkansas Association of Women Lawyers. She was a member of Little Rock Regional Chamber of Commerce's Leadership Greater Little Rock Class XXXII. Judge Martin also currently serves on the City of Little Rock H.O.P.E. Advisory Council, the Pulaski County Criminal Justice Coordinating Committee, and the Arkansas District Judges Council Legislative Committee. She was the Arkansas District Judges Council representative to the Arkansas Crime Information Center (ACIC) Supervisory Board. The Arkansas Supreme Court has appointed her to its Committee on Automation.

As a Circuit Judge, Judge Martin presides over both jury and non-jury trials in felony cases, as well as appeals of misdemeanor convictions. As Little Rock District Court Criminal Judge, Judge Martin oversaw a staff of 23 and presided over the largest district court criminal docket in the State of Arkansas. The Court, in session five days a week, averaged 6000 new criminal cases annually during her tenure. The court handles both misdemeanor cases and daily felony arraignments. Judge Martin also reviewed all affidavits and approved the issuance of search warrants and arrest warrants. In addition, as a District Judge, Judge Martin presided over various civil cases upon referral from the circuit courts.

In August 2019, Judge Martin implemented a pilot specialty court, the Pulaski County Mental Health Court, after obtaining approval and designation as such by the Arkansas Supreme Court. The Mental Health Court works with a team of community stakeholders in order to provide mental health services to defendants at the misdemeanor level. The court now also has been approved by the Arkansas Supreme Court to operate a pilot program that screens and releases qualified inmates to pre-trial substance abuse treatment. Judge Martin has also conducted Leniency Courts, which give options to citizens with outstanding fines and warrants for failure to appear or failure to comply. During her tenure, Little Rock District Court became an eFiling court. The Court also implemented a daily text notification system, alerting parties by way of text or email notifications regarding court appearances. Judge Martin also revised policies of access to court records to make the business of the court more easily accessible to the public. The Court remained open and accessible to the public during the midst of the COVID-19 pandemic. When in-person trials resumed, the Court maintained and kept its trial docket current.

A native of Mountain Home (Baxter County), Judge Martin graduated from the University of Arkansas in 1989. She is a longtime resident of Little Rock and is a member of Pulaski Heights Baptist Church. Judge Martin has been named Pulaski County District Judge of the year by the Pulaski County Bar Association twice during her tenure.

Mr. McKinney has served as lead counsel on dozens of multi-million dollar transactions throughout the mid-South region. His projects include one of the largest real estate transactions in the corporate history of a major global retailer. He also represents restaurant owners, including franchisees of national chains.

In addition to working on the transactional aspects of a project, Mr. McKinney assists clients with financing, business organization, environmental and land use issues. His practice includes guiding clients through the regulatory process, including obtaining zoning changes and other governmental approvals. He has extensive experience assisting clients in obtaining appropriate business licenses and approvals, such as alcohol permits and franchise agreements. He also assists clients with permitting issues related to the Clean Water Act (e.g., U.S. Army Corps of Engineers 404 permits), the National Historic Preservation Act (e.g., Section 106 compliance) and the National Flood Insurance Act (e.g., letters of map revision).

Mr. McKinney also has experience dealing with real estate-related litigation matters, including adverse possession, boundary by acquiescence, prescriptive easements, quiet title, eviction, foreclosure and restrictive covenant disputes, among others. Mr. McKinney has also been active in the legislative process, including serving on the Arkansas Bar Association's Jurisprudence and Law Reform and Legislation Committees. He has testified before the Arkansas General Assembly on many occasions and been involved in drafting and vetting real estate-related legislation.

Mr. McKinney is currently serving his sixth term as Chair of the Real Estate Law Section of the Arkansas Bar Association. In that capacity, he spearheaded the creation of the Arkansas Real Estate Review and currently serves as one of its editors. Mr. McKinney was the first attorney in the State of Arkansas to obtain the status of LEED® Accredited Professional, which affords him the unique ability to assist clients with environmentally-friendly green building projects. Mr. McKinney served as the U.S. Green Building Council Arkansas Chapter's Secretary and Treasurer and served on the Arkansas General Assembly's Legislative Task Force on Sustainable Building Design and Practices. He also serves on the state's Old State House Commission.

Mr. McKinney is also involved in the academic side of real estate law. Mr. McKinney is an Adjunct Professor at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock William H. Bowen School of Law where he teaches Real Estate Finance and Real Estate Transaction Skills. He has written a number of law review articles on real estate topics, including implied covenants, deed drafting, boundary by acquiescence, adverse possession and landlord/tenant rights. He chaired the committee for the third edition of the Standards for Examination of Real Estate Titles in Arkansas and authored the Arkansas chapter for an American Bar Association book on institutional land use controls.

Mr. McKinney attended the University of Arkansas where he obtained his Juris Doctor (cum laude) and Master of Public Administration degrees. His focus on real estate began while he was a student at Southern Methodist University earning a Master of Laws degree emphasizing real estate. Prior to law school, Mr. McKinney was a National Merit Scholar at Baylor University. He is licensed to practice law in Arkansas (2002, highest score), Mississippi, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas, and he uses his licenses and experience in these states to assist clients in cross-border transactions.
